INTRODUCTION

Problems of the aged and aging have in recent years emerged as life expectancy rates have lengthened due to better nutrition, health care, and advances in preventive medicine. In the process of seeking solutions to the problems faced by the elderly, governmental agencies have published research and survey findings, transcripts of hearings, statewide plans for the aged, and other valuable material in the field of gerontology.

The bibliography is an attempt to provide better and easier access to some of the material available in the Government Publications Department. The compilers have covered the period 1960 - 1974, selecting those publications which seemed to be most significant. State, foreign, and international documents issued in the 1960s were limited to the Library's current holdings.

The bibliographic annotations are divided into subject sections. Titles and series indexes provide access to the annotations by entry number. Call numbers are given to facilitate location of the publications in the Government Publications Department stacks.

The compilation of this bibliography has been a team effort. Mrs. Lucy DeLuca was responsible for the federal documents; Mrs. B. McIlvaine for the foreign, international documents and governmental periodical articles; Mrs. Mohini Mundkur for state documents. In addition, the compilers would like to gratefully acknowledge the evaluative comments from Dr. Howard Rosencranz, Director of the University Program of Gerontology, the editorial help and advice of Mr. Richard Schimmelpfeng, Special Collections Librarian; encouragement and support of Mrs. Carol Stocking, Head, Government Publications Department; and typing assistance of Ms. Barbara Lamie and Carole Renca.

Bibliographies

1 Aging in the modern world, an annotated bibliography. U.S. Welfare Administration. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1964. 194 pp.
FS 14.13:Ag4

This bibliography covers books from 1900 to 1963, periodical articles from 1958 to 1963, and government documents from 1955 to 1963. Legislation is excluded. The arrangement is by subject.

2 Housing for the elderly; annotated references. U.S. Housing and Urban Development Department. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1965. 36 pp. HH 1.23:E12

A selection of 290 references covering material in the field of housing for the senior citizen. Books, periodical articles, and government publications from 1950 to 1965 are included. The arrangement is by subject with an author index.

3 The impact of Medicare; an annotated bibliography of selected resources. U.S. Social Security Administration. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1970. 69 pp. HE 3.38:M46 2

An excellent bibliography, with lengthy annotations, on the impact of Medicare. It covers books, periodical articles, and government publications in nine subject categories. There is an author index and a list of Medicare reports of the Social Security Administration's Office of Research & Statistics. The period covered is August 1965 to December 1968.

4 Index medicus. U.S. National Library of Medicine. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1960-
Reference Room
(Index Table M)

A comprehensive index to periodical literature in the field of medicine issued monthly with annual cumulations. There is a main subject listing with a supplementary author section. Subject headings concerned with gerontology are: aging, aged, geriatrics, geriatric dentistry, geriatric nursing, retirement, terminal care, chronic disease, as well as headings for other related concepts and for specific diseases.

5 Nursing care of the aged; an annotated bibliography for nurses. U.S. Public Health Service. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1967. 131 pp. FS 2.24:Ag3

More than 500 annotated references on nursing care for the elderly are listed in this bibliography which covers the period 1954 to 1965. It contains references mainly to journals in the field of nursing, but books, government documents, and other periodicals are also included. There are content (subject) and author indexes.

6 A selected annotated bibliography on nutrition and aging. U.S. Administration on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1973. 42 pp. HE 17.311: N95964-72

Annotated bibliography of books, periodical articles and government publications published from 1964 to 1972. The arrangement is by ten broad subject headings. There are no indexes.

7 Words on aging, a bibliography of selected annotated references. U.S. Administration on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1971. 190 pp. HE 17.311:Ag4

Intended for practitioners, teachers. students, and laymen working in the field of aging, this bibliography is divided into six subject areas: aging (general and bibliographies), processes of aging, economic aspects of aging, health and medical care, social relationships and social adjustment, and social and environmental services. It covers periodical articles from 1963 to 1967, selected books from 1900 to 1967, and government publications. Legislation is specifically excluded. There are author and subject indexes.

8 More words on aging, a bibliography of selected 1968-1970 references. U.S. Administration on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1971. 107 pp. HE 17.311:Ag4supp

A supplement to Words on aging.

Comprehensive Studies - U.S. and World

9 The aged population of the United States: the 1963 Social Security survey of the aged. U.S. Social Security Administration. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1967. 423 pp. (Research report #19)
FS 3.49:19

A detailed statistical picture of persons over sixty-two. The Social Security Administration was concerned about the effect of its programs on individuals and the economy. This survey was undertaken to determine the characteristics of Social Security recipients. The information gathered was used in formulating the 1965 Social Security Amendments. Current statistics on the aging population can be compared to this data to reflect changes over the years.

10 Aging. U.S. Administration on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1953+. (10 times a year) HE 1.210:224/225+

A periodical which provides a forum for sharing information about programs and activities for those agencies, individuals, and organizations which are interested in the field of geriatrics.

Earlier issues at: FS 1.13:6-100 (July 1953-February 1963); FS 14.9:101-131 (March 1963-September 1965); FS 15.10:132-154 (October 1965-August 1967); FS 17.309:155-173/174 (September 1967-March/April 1969); HE 17.309:175-223 (May 1969-June 1973); HE 1.210:224/225+ (June/July 1973+).

11 The aging person: needs and services. U.S. Community Health Service. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1970. 90 pp. (Working with older people: a guide to practice, v.3)
HE 20.2558:011[v.3]

Deals with the many facets of social welfare as they relate to the health status of the elderly. Sections on problems such as food, clothing, shelter, environmental safety, mobility, leisure activities, legal protection, security, supportive services, religion, and attitudes toward death are included.

12 America's centenarians. U.S. Social Security Administration. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., Annual.

HE 3.2:C33v.9+

Interviews with centenarians provide glimpses into varied life patterns including reactions to the initiation of the Social Security program.

13 Basic concepts of aging: a programmed manual. U.S. Administration on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1972. 148 pp.

HE 17.308:Ag4972

This learning resource covers the basic aspects of aging: psychological, social, educational, physiological, biological, economic, and recreational.

14 Facilities, programs, and services. U.S. White House Conference on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1971. 59 pp.

Y3.W58:2G74

Background report from the 1971 conference with short sections on all types of services currently available. Longer sections deal with consumer and legal services.

15 Long-range program and research needs in aging and related fields. Hearings before the Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 90th Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1968. 487 pp. Y4.Ag4:P94pt.1

Panel discussions on future needs of the elderly in the areas of status, income, services, minorities, shelter, environment, and research.

16 "Old age." International Social Science Journal 15(3): 339-465. Entire issue. 1963.

Govt. Publ. Dept.

Reading Room.

Series of articles on problems of aging. Covers such diverse areas as demographics, economic aspects and retirement, and also contains a short description of types of research being done in various countries.

17 The older American. U.S. President's Council on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1973. 73 pp. Pr 35.8:Ag4011

This first annual report of the Council was designed to show Congress and the nation that the elderly were a group in need of help, both legislative and social. Specific recommendations for federal action are discussed.

18 Older Americans in rural areas. Hearings before the Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 91st Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1970-71. 12 pts.
Y4.Ag4:R88pts1-12

Hearings to explore problems of the elderly living in rural areas, to assess effectiveness of current federal programs and services to those citizens, and to seek recommendations for new legislation. These hearings supplement Economics of aging: toward a full share of abundance, (entry #149).

19 On growing older. U.S. President's Council on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1964. 146 pp.
Pr 35.8:Ag4011[2]

A discussion of the many different aspects of aging. Some of the topics covered are the process of aging, coping with old age, economic considerations of old age, housing, human values, and the need for fulfillment in the later years.

20 Planning. U.S. White House Conference on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1971. 47 pp. Y3.W58[4]:2P69

Background paper on the types of planning being undertaken at all levels of government.

21 Planning. U.S. White House Conference on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1972. 12 pp. Y3.W58[4]:2P69[2]

Recommendations from the 1971 conference on the types of planning and coordination needed to serve the elderly.

22 Planning welfare services for older people. U.S. Family Services Bureau. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1966. 198 pp.
FS 14.202:011[4]

Papers from a training seminar are divided into sections dealing with characteristics of aging persons, development of goals and programs, and case studies.

23 Problems of the aging. Hearings before the Subcommittee on Federal and State Activities, Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 87th Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1962. 13 pts. Y4.Ag4:Ag4$^{pts1-13}$

Held in 13 nationwide locations, these hearings are related to the health, education, and general welfare of the aged.

24 Problems of the aging. Hearings before the Special Studies Subcommittee, Government Operations Committee, House of Representatives, 92nd Congress, 1st and 2nd Sessions. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1972. 6 pts.
Y4.G74^{7}:Ag4^{pts1-6}

Housing, medical costs, unsafe nursing homes, nutritional problems, and various government programs to aid the elderly such as the Foster Grandparent Program, are among the topics covered by this hearing.

25 Protective and social support. U.S. White House Conference on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1972. 30 pp.
Y3.W58^{4}:2P94^{2}

Recommendations from the 1971 conference in the following fields: the older family, the religious community, the elderly consumer, and legal aid.

26 Research and demonstration. U.S. White House Conference on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1971. 47 pp.
Y3.W58^{4}:2R31^{3}

This background paper for the 1971 conference discusses the types of research being done and those which are needed in the field of aging.

27 Aging in Connecticut: a fact book. Connecticut. State Department of Aging. Hartford, 1971. 124 pp.
7-Ag4.2:Ag4

Statistical data on the elderly in Connecticut, compiled as background information for the 1971 White House Conference on Aging. The publication was prepared by a research staff at the University of Connecticut, and sponsored by the Connecticut State Department of Aging.

28 Aging in Montana: a survey of the needs and problems of older Americans. Montana. Commission on Aging. Helena, 1972. 78 pp. 26-Ag4.1:Ag4

Conducted by the Institute of Social Science Research, University of Montana, this survey examines the plight of the aged in Montana, noting their concentration and isolation in rural areas and concludes that the most urgent problem is their lack of social involvement and social organization in the community.

29 Alaska comprehensive study on aging: final report. Alaska. Department of Health and Social Services. Juneau, 1972. 143 pp.
2-H34.2:Ag4

The study is related to the seven general areas of: housing, social relations and activities, life satisfaction, economics, health, nutrition, and independence. The conclusions are discouraging on all counts, especially for the native (Eskimo, Indian and Aleut) elderly.

30 All would live long . . . none would be old. Washington. Governor's Task Force on Aging. Olympia, 1973. 151 pp.

47-Ag4[1].1:Al5

The Task Force findings concern the serious hardships facing the aged in housing, health, education, consumer protection services, and income/employment. The report includes specific recommendations on the role of state and federal governments in each problem area.

31 Elderly affairs. Hawaii. Legislative Reference Bureau. Honolulu, 1973. 297 pp. (Report 1973-1)

11-L52.7:973[1]

Researcher Bina Chun provides a statistical analysis of data covering the major concerns of Hawaii's elderly, such as economic needs, education, employment, transportation, housing and health. Particularly helpful are the comparative figures included for the other states. Appendices contain directory of programs and services for the aged in Hawaii, financing provisions by federal legislative enactment, and a four-page bibliography.

32 Maryland's older population: an assessment of needs and services. Maryland. Department of Employment and Social Services. Annapolis, 1971. 4 pts. 20-Ag4[1].2:M36[pts1-4]

The four parts deal respectively with a demographic profile of Maryland's elderly, their economic needs and security, their health care, and lastly their needs in the areas of housing, employment, retirement, and social services.

33 A matter of dignity: Department of Services for the Aging. Illinois. Lt. Governor's Commission on Aging. Springfield, [1973]. 66 pp. 13-Ag4.1:Ag4

A demographic profile of Illinois' senior citizens and a survey of their needs justifying the necessity for a separate Department of Services for the Aging.

34 1973 Blaine House Conference on Aging: a report of conference proceedings and recommendations. Maine. Governor's Committee on the Aging. Augusta, 1973. 89 pp.

19-Ag4.1:Ag4

The purpose of the conference was to focus on the main concerns of elderly citizens and make pertinent recommendations to the legislature.

35 Statewide developmental plan for the aging. Hawaii. Commission on Aging. Honolulu, 1971. 85 pp.
11-Ag4.2:St2

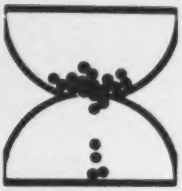
In preparing this report, Tom Way Wong & Associates follow the principles of Planning-Programming-Budgeting, assessing the existing programs for the aging against proposed programs in the light of stated objectives.

36 Steps for Maine's elderly: report of the Governor's Committee on the Aging. Maine. Governor's Committee on the Aging. Augusta, 1970. 262 pp. 19-Ag4.1:St4

Based on work done by five task forces covering all counties in Maine and including surveys undertaken by Esco Research Inc., Public Affairs Research Center and Arthur D. Little Co., this report thoroughly explores the problems of Maine's aged and makes appropriate practical recommendations. Statistical tables on housing, medical care, income, and Social Security benefits graphically illustrate the unfortunate state of the elderly. A nine-page bibliography is appended to the text.

37 Survey of older Americans in the State of Nevada. Nevada. Department of Health, Welfare, and Rehabilitation. Carson City, 1970. 86 pp. 28-H34.2:Su7

Compiled by the Department of Professional Studies, College of Education of the University of Nevada at Las Vegas, this study describes the characteristics of the older resident population of Nevada with a view to implementing the plan of action proposed by the White House Conference on Aging. Appendices present information about programs in other states.



Demographics

38 Census of population: 1970. Vol. 1, Characteristics of the population. U.S. Bureau of the Census. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1973. 58 pts. in 57 vol. Govt. Publ. Dept.

Reading Room

Basic demographic data from the 1970 census, much of which is classified by age group. One part is done for each state and territory, and one part is a United States summary.

39 Health in the later years of life, selected data from the National Center for Health Statistics. U.S. National Center for Health Statistics. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1971. 53 pp.
HE 20.2202:L34

A statistical look at the health problems of the elderly.

40 Illustrative projections of the population of the Middle Atlantic States by age and sex, 1960-1980. Connecticut. Agricultural Experiment Station. Storrs, 1963. 20 pp. (Progress report #53) (Connecticut population report #9)
7-Ag8^{2}.5:53

Based on the 1960 census figures, and taking into consideration the future trends in fertility, mortality, and migration, demographer Edward Stockwell estimates population projections for the states of New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

41 Illustrative projections of the population of the New England States, by age and sex, 1960-1980. Connecticut. Agricultural Experiment Station. Storrs, 1963. 29 pp. (Progress report #51) (Connecticut population report #7)
7-Ag8^{2}.5:51

Demographer Edward Stockwell makes projections for the six New England states to 1980 using the 1960 census figures and various assumptions concerning future trends in fertility, mortality, and migration.

42 Illustrative projections of the population of the South Atlantic States of the Northeast Region, by age and sex, 1960-1980. Connecticut. Agricultural Experiment Station. Storrs, 1963. 18 pp. 7-Ag8^{2}.5:53^{1}

Demographic projections for the states of Delaware, Maryland, and West Virginia based on 1960 census figures and various assumptions concerning trends in population growth and mobility.

43 Population estimates and projections. U.S. Bureau of the Census. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., Annual. (Current population reports, series P-25) C56.218:P-25$^{nos.}$

Yearly estimates of population by state and age to update census material.

Earlier issues at C3.186:P-25$^{nos.}$

44 The population of Connecticut: illustrative projections by age and sex, 1960-1980. Connecticut. Agricultural Experiment Station. Storrs, 1963. 16 pp. (Bulletin #375) 7-Ag8^{2}.3:375

These projections for Connecticut are based on the population change between 1950 and 1960 and alternative assumptions concerning trends in population growth and mobility.

45 The population of Connecticut, 1970: age and sex composition. Connecticut. Agricultural Experiment Station. Storrs, 1973. 23 pp. (Bulletin #421) 7-Ag8^{2}.3:421

This study describes and discusses historical trends in age and sex composition for the 1960-1970 decade, variations in age and sex composition within the State, and comparisons between the age and sex compositions for Connecticut with those for the United States and New England.

46 The population of Connecticut, 1970: nativity and racial composition. Connecticut. Agricultural Experiment Station. Storrs,

1973. 32 pp. (Bulletin #424)

7-Ag8^{2}.3:424

Kenneth Hadden provides data for minority groups by age and sex, in addition to other statistical information on Connecticut racial and ethnic composition as determined by the 1970 census figures.

47 Some demographic aspects of aging in the United States. U.S. Bureau of the Census. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1973. 30 pp. (Current population reports, special studies #43)

C56.218:P-23^{43}

Statistical data related to number and proportions of older persons, sex and race compositions, geographic variation, mortality and survival rates, and social economic characteristics. In some cases, projections are estimated to the year 2000.

48 Vital and health statistics series. U.S. National Center for Health Statistics. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1962-

HE 20.6209:ser$^{no.}$

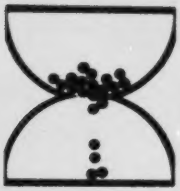
Thirteen subseries in this set deal with various aspects of vital statistics, and health-age classifications are included in appropriate items.

There is a subject index to the series for 1962-72. Earlier issues at FS 2.85^{2}: series$^{no.}$ and HE 20.2210:series$^{no.}$

49 We the American elderly. U.S. Bureau of the Census. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1973. 13 pp. (We, the Americans, #10)

C56.234:10

Comparative statistics on the elderly population based on the 1970 census.



Process of Aging

50 The assessment of biological age in man by F. Bourlière. Geneva, World Health Organization, 1970. 67 pp. (Public health papers, #37) WHO-11:37

Describes and evaluates various methods for determining biological age. It is hoped that such studies will lead to help in problems of employing older workers.

51 Biological, psychological, and sociological aspects of aging. U.S. Community Health Service. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1970. 50 pp. (Working with older people: a guide to practice, v.2)
HE 20.2558:011[v.2]

Devoted to the basic sciences most directly related to the process of aging and the aged individual.

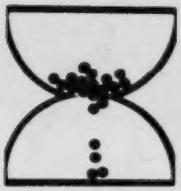
52 Clinical aspects of aging. U.S. Community Health Services. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1971. 388 pp. (Working with older people: a guide to practice, v.4) HE 20.2558:011[v.4]
Written by specialists for the general practitioner. This volume is comprised of three sections: diseases and disorders most relevant to single organ systems, clinical problems closely related to multiple organ systems, and aspects which apply especially to the allied health professions.

53 "Evaluating population ageing" by Valentina S. Steshenko and Vladimir P. Piskunov. International Social Science Journal 26(2): 235-243. 1974. Govt. Publ. Dept. Reading Room

A society with a high life expectancy and low fertility will have an increasing number of older persons. Steps should be taken now to find positive uses for the larger number of more experienced people available to the society.

54 Human aging: a biological and behavioral study. U.S. National Institute of Mental Health. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1963. 328 pp. FS 2.22:Ag4[4]

An intensive interdisciplinary study of aging persons. Although the sample was only 47 males, the study is significant in that the subjects were healthy, community-dwelling persons. The results should aid workers in the public health field.



Quality of Life

55 Death with dignity, an inquiry into related public issues. Hearings before the Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 92nd Congress, 2nd Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1972. 3 pts.
Y4.Ag4:D34^{pts1-3}

Hearings to explore the public issues surrounding the subject of "death with dignity" for the aged and other terminally ill persons. (See also 1973 Workshop on death and dying, entry #144).

56 Education. U.S. White House Conference on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1971. 31 pp. Y3.W58^{4}:2Ed8^{2}

Background report for the 1971 conference on current problems of educating the aged to face retirement and life.

57 The fitness challenge in the later years: an exercise program for older Americans. U.S. Administration on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1968. 28 pp. FS 17.302:F55

Shows three levels of exercises to be used after a test to see at which level an individual can best perform.

58 Guide to advocacy and action. Pennsylvania. State Advisory Committee on Aging. Harrisburg, 1974. 35 pp.
38-Ag4.1:Ad9

A manual prepared by the Task Force on Advocacy and Participation to help older citizens organize into social action groups to work toward bettering their quality of life.

59 Leisure-time activities of middle-aged adults in rural areas. Alabama. Agricultural Experiment Station. Auburn, 1968. 22 pp. (Bulletin #380) 1-Ag8.3:380

Leisure-time activity preference of 210 rural families (with heads of families aged 45-64), and their post-retirement activity plans led researchers to conclude that income and education were the two crucial factors which accounted for the dearth of creative recreational activities among this population segment.

60 The older American and higher education in Ohio. Ohio. Administration on Aging. Columbus, 1973. 78 pp.
35-Ag4.2:Ed8

Sub-titled "Educational opportunities offered to older Americans and to persons interested in the field of aging by Ohio's colleges and universities".

61 Retirement marriage. Connecticut. Agricultural Experiment Station. Storrs, 1969. 135 pp. (Monograph #3)
7-Ag8^{2}.7:3

Through interviews with a sample of 100 elderly couples who had defied usual social convention and married in their late years, Walter McKain examines courtship patterns, the rationale for these marriages, the type of wedding rites, and the key factors for success in such marital partnerships.

62 Social indicators for the aged. Georgia. Department of Human Resources, Office of Aging. Atlanta, 1972. 66 pp.
10-Ag4.2:Sol

Based on interviews of 895 persons over the age of sixty-five, this study tried to measure the actual condition as well as the degree of satisfaction expressed by the elderly concerning their housing, social relations, their attitude toward life, health and economic status, and independence.

63 Social indicators for the aged: a report of the survey of needs, 1971-1972. North Carolina. Governor's Council on Aging. Raleigh, [1972]. 81 pp. 33-Ag4.2:Sol

A social indicator survey of a sampling of 1082 households (containing one or more individuals aged sixty-five or over) in sixty-nine counties formed the basis of this report. The Institute for Research in Social Science at the University of North Carolina designed the survey and the Research Triangle Institute organized the field work.

64 Social indicators for the aged: a study of the status and needs of older Mississippians. Mississippi. Council on Aging. Jackson, 1973. 83 pp. 24-Ag4.2:So1

Y4.L11^{2}:Ag4^{5}

These hearings deal with legislation relating to research on aging and nutrition programs for the elderly, particularly Senate bill S.1163 amending the Older Americans Act of 1965 to provide grants to the states to provide low-cost meals for the elderly.

Transportation and Mobility

174 Barrier-free environment for the elderly and the handicapped. Hearings before the Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 92nd Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1972. 3 pts. Y4.Ag4:En8pts1-3

Hearings to consider the impact of barriers, architectural and otherwise, upon older and/or handicapped Americans, and the effectiveness of existing legislation such as the Architectural Barriers Act (PL 90-480) in eliminating barriers from federally-funded structures.

175 Driving competencies for the elderly. New York. State Department of Education, Bureau of Continuing Education Curriculum Development. Albany, 1970. 65 pp.
32-Ed8.2:D83

A guide for a refresher driving course for senior citizens. An instructor's bibliography and profile tests are included.

176 Older Americans and transportation: a crisis in mobility. Report by the Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1970. 113 pp. (91st Congress, 2nd Session, Senate report •1520) Senate Report 91-1520
SS12931-1

The report is based on the Workshop on Transportation and Aging, Washington, D.C., 25-26 May 1970, and several other studies. It represents an attempt to define the problems of the elderly when unable to make use of transportation, whether public or private.

177 Public transportation and the elderly in Florida. Florida. Department of Transportation. Tallahassee, 1971 (reissued 1973). 93 pp. 9-T68.2:T68

While focusing on the transportation exigencies of the aged, this report also makes a good case for public transit for other disadvantaged groups. Included is a summary and critique of various transportation alternatives.

178 A study of the transportation needs of senior citizens in Ohio. Ohio. Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, Division of Administration on Aging. Columbus, 1970. 68 pp. 35-Ag4.2:T68

Based on a sample of five cities, this study was meant as a planning document to aid in setting up and improving transportation services for older Ohioans.

179 Transportation. U.S. White House Conference on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1971. 51 pp. Y3.W58^{4}:2T68^{2}

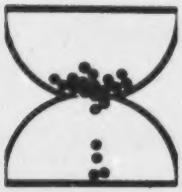
A background paper for the 1971 conference, this report discusses currently available information on transportation. The inadequacy of current programs is acknowledged.

180 Transportation and aging: selected issues. U.S. Administration on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1971. 208 pp. HE 17.302:T68

A discussion of the transportation needs of the elderly citing examples of successful efforts to improve transportation for them.

181 Transportation and the elderly: problems and programs. Hearings before the Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 93rd Congress, 2nd Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1974. pp. 237-284. Y4.Ag4:T68Pt3

A study of the critical impact of the energy crisis on the transportation problems for the aged.



Safety

182 Fire safety for the aging. Hearings before the Special Studies Subcommittee, Committee on Government Operations, U.S. House of Representatives, 93rd Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1973. 164 pp.

Y4.G74^{7}:F51

These hearings point out the fire safety hazards faced by the aged. Particular emphasis is placed on the problem of fires in nursing homes.

183 Fire safety in highrise buildings for the elderly. Hearings before the Subcommittee on Housing for the Elderly, Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 93rd Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1973. 2 pts. Y4.Ag4:F51^{pts1-2}

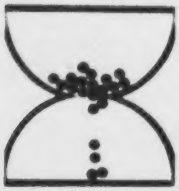
Problems in fighting fires in highrise buildings are complicated when all the tenants are elderly. Older persons are generally less able to help themselves in an emergency situation. The best safety feature suggested by fire officials is an automatic sprinkler system.

184 Flammable fabrics and other fire hazards to older Americans. Hearings before the Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 92nd Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1972. 85 pp. Y4.Ag4:F61

Hearings to inquire into fire hazards, particularly those posed by flammable fabrics, and into the disproportionate incidence of the elderly involved in burn accidents.

185 Handle yourself with care, accident prevention for older Americans. U.S. Administration on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1969. 20 pp. FS 17.308:H19^{2}

An accident prevention guide for older people with emphasis on falls, dangers of fire, care in handling medicines, and safety points to be remembered as drivers and pedestrians.



Consumer Problems

186 Consumer interests of the elderly. Hearings before the Subcommittee on Consumer Interests of the Elderly, Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 90th Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1967. 2 pts. Y4.Ag4:C78^{pts1-2}

Covers all areas which relate to consumer problems, including fraud as well as lack of information. Federal help is seen as needed for states to aid consumers.

187 Deceptive or misleading methods in health insurance sales. Hearings before the Subcommittee on Frauds and Misrepresentations Affecting the Elderly, Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 88th Congress, 2nd Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1964. 214 pp. Y4.Ag4:H34^{6}

Hearings on the Older American Community Service Employment Act, an act to establish a community service program for unemployed older workers.

214 Older Americans Act of 1965, as amended: text and history. U.S. Administration on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1970. 30 pp. HE 17.305:011

The Older Americans Act of 1965 provides assistance in the development of new or improved programs to help older persons, through grants to the states for community planning and services, and for training, through research, development, or training project grants; and to establish within the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare an operating agency to be designated as the "Administration on Aging".

215 Oversight hearings on older Americans. Hearings before the Select Subcommittee on Education, Committee on Education and Labor, U.S. House of Representatives, 93rd Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1973. 191 pp.
Y4.Ed8^{1}:011$^{4-973}$

Hearings on recent research into the physical, medical, environmental, and social problems of the elderly.

216 Post-White House Conference on Aging reports, 1973: Towards a new attitude on aging - April 1973; and Final report of the Post-Conference Board of the 1971 Conference on Aging - June 1973. Subcommittee on Aging, Committee on Labor and

Public Welfare and Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 93rd Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1973. 859 pp. (Joint committee print) Y4.L11[2]:Ag4[7-973]

Presentation of two reports on the status of implementation of the recommendations made by the 1971 White House Conference on Aging, the Administration's Towards a new attitude on aging – April 1973, and an analysis of this report by study panels of the Post-Conference Board.

217 A study of Illinois State programs for the aged. Illinois. Commission on Intergovernmental Cooperation. Springfield, 1971. 1 v. 13-A3In8.1:St9

Reviewing the role of the federal and state government in aiding the Illinois elderly, the Commission underscored the need for an overall planning and coordinating agency to curb duplication of well-intentioned time, energy, and money otherwise spent in a piecemeal and fragmented manner.

218 Toward a brighter future for the elderly. U.S. President's Council on Aging. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1970. 60 pp. Pr 37.8:Ag4

This report discusses how various government programs can aid the elderly in solving problems of poverty, health and living conditions, and transportation.

219 Toward a national policy on aging. Proceedings of the 1971 White House Conference on Aging, November 28-December 2, Washington, D.C. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1973. 2 v. Y3.W58[4]:1[971-v1-2]

Volume 1 covers the background, organization, and program of the White House Conference on Aging, as well as a view of the activities carried on at the community and state level in preparation for the conference.

Volume 2 concerns specific recommendations made by the conference in the fields of education, employment and retirement, physical and mental health, housing, income, nutrition, retirement roles and activities, spiritual well-being, transportation facilities, programs and services, government and non-government organizations, and planning, research, demonstration projects, and training in the field of gerontology. It also covers the special sessions' recommendations concerning health care strategies, disability and rehabilitation, the rural poor elderly, elderly of minority groups, protective and social support, and roles for the young and old.

220 The war on poverty as it affects older Americans. Hearings before the Special Committee on Aging, U.S. Senate, 89th Congress, 1st Session. Washington, U.S.G.P.O., 1965-66. 3 pts.
Y4.Ag4:P86pts1-3

Hearings in Washington, D.C. and Newark, New Jersey, to determine the impact of the Office of Economic Opportunity on the elderly. Generally, the OEO is found to be not responsive to older citizens.
